

Finally, reading these papers generated a useful conversation about how students succeed (or not) at writing abstracts. In our way of thinking, abstracts are an instance of concise writing, and

9. Value civic engagement and appreciate the importance of active citizenship.